Devotees Flock To Ram Ki Paidi In Ayodhya Amid 'Nautapa', Enjoying Bathing

Ayodhya: Amid the ongoing Nautapa, devotees are thronging Ram Ki Paidi in Ayodhya, finding respite from the scorching heat while fulfilling their spiritual aspirations.

The 'Nautapa' refers to the nine hottest days of peak summer.

The cleanliness and maintenance of Ram Ki Paidi are being meticulously managed to ensure the health and comfort of the devotees, making it a popular spot during this intense summer period.

Sanjay Tripathi, Executive Engineer of the Saryu Project, shared, "Ram Ki Paidi has been created for the joy and convenience of devotees, especially for their bathing rituals. It undergoes thorough cleaning twice daily, in the morning and evening, to ensure no inconve-nience is caused to the visitors. Unlike earlier times when incidents were reported due to the absence of a proper channel, the situation has significantly improved. Now, devotees bathe safely at Ram Ki Paidi instead of venturing into the river, reducing risks. We maintain the channel regularly, and the water flow provides a cooling effect, making it a refreshing spot akin to a picnic destination during the summer," Tripathi said.

He added that the maintenance of Ram Ki Paidi continues as long as devotees visit the city, ensuring a clean and safe environment for all.

Devotees from far and wide expressed their delight at the experience. "We have come to Ayodhya with our entire family during Nautapa. It feels like enjoying a mini water park here.'

Ram Ki Paidi is a popular spot located in Ayodhya, where there is a series of sacred ghats (steps leading to a water body) along the banks of the Saryu River. It is a significant pilgrimage site for Hindus, where devotees gather to take a holy dip, perform rituals, and offer prayers, particularly due to its association with Lord Rama, a Hindu god and the forth challenges such as their thoughts on the role on supporting journalists the lack of certification of journalism in society and promoting quality protagonist of the Ramayana. -ANI

Miscreants Break Idol Kept In Temple

Bahraich: Some miscreants allegedly broke an idol kept in a temple in Uttar Pradesh's Bahraich district, police said on Saturday.

The incident caused resentment among the villagers, the police added.

Additional Superintendent of Police (Rural) Durga Prasad Tewari on Saturday said that some miscreants broke an idol in a temple located in Khasa Mohammadpur village under the Ramgaon police station area on Friday. The agitated villagers gathered outside the temple and raised slogans, he said.

He added that police and administrative officials reached the spot and pacified the villagers by assuring action. After that, the villagers immersed the broken idol in the Saryu river. A new idol is being installed there, Tewari said. A case has been registered in this regard. Tiwari said that adequate police force has been deployed in the village, nd some suspects are being questioned.

The ASP said that some people called for violent protests on social media regarding the incident, so prohibitory orders have been imposed in the district.

Circle Officer of Mahsi, DK Srivastava, in a statement said that some antisocial elements are allegedly inciting people's religious sentiments through social media. Such elements will be identified and legal action will be taken by registering a case against them, he said. -PTI
